Halloween, a holiday which is celebrated on October 31, means hallowed or holy evening because it takes place the day before All Saints' Day. This is a day for parties, especially costume parties, and it is celebrated more by children than adults. Most elementary schools have some kind of party on this day where children play games, such as bobbing for apples, telling fortunes, and telling ghost stories.

There are many symbols connected to this holiday. They have some basis in history, but almost no one knows this history now. Some of the common symbols are jack-o'lanterns, ghosts, witches, and black cats.

Nowadays, children in U.S. like to dress up in costumes and masks and go from house to house to ask for candy. They ring the doorbell and shout, "Trick or treat!" Treats are candy, and tricks are mischievous things they might do if they don't get candy!

The history of this holiday is very complicated, but most people now just accept it as a harmless holiday where people have fun.
